Defendant's Motion in Limine Re: Customer Trauma

For the reasons stated on the record, the Court ruled on Defendant's Motion in Limine to Exclude Evidence of Customer's Post-Offense Trauma, Injury or Damages Pursuant to Fed. R. Evid. 401 and 403 as follows:

Defendant's motion is DENIED as to Kathy Matthews' statement that after she paid AY its inflated claim, she found herself "breaking down and crying after seeing how her items [were] thrown around in the storage unit." The motion is also DENIED as to Kathy Matthews' statement that the move caused a tremendous amount of stress and tension in her and her fiancé's relationship.

Defendant's motion is GRANTED as to Kathy Matthews' statement that her and her fiancé's engagement was called off shortly after the move, that the events related to the move were the primary reasons their relationship failed, and that Matthews has not dated since.

Government's Supplemental Motion in Limine to Admit Co-Conspirator Statements

After reviewing the government's Supplemental Proffer Re: Co-Conspirator Statements and Defendant's Supplemental Opposition and considering the oral arguments of the parties at the April 26, 2012 further pre-trial conference, the Court GRANTED the government's Motion in Limine to Admit Co-Conspirator Statements.

Government's Motion for Reconsideration Re: Proposed Verdict Form

The Court DENIED the government's motion to delete from the verdict form the jury's identification of the overt act that the jury's finds unanimously.
